

SMALLER COUNCIL DEFEATED

Alderman McGavin Declares Letter From Association Is Ill-Timed

MUCH TIME GIVEN TO CITY BUSINESS

An attack, led by Alderman Andrew McGavin, sent to defeat, at last night's meeting of the City Council, a proposal from the Victoria Ratepayers' Association that the membership of the council be reduced to five aldermen.

Alderman J. D. Hunter took the first action when he moved that the proposal be referred to the legislative committee for consideration. The suggestion involved the changing of city government, and was too important a matter to make a snap judgment upon, he declared.

This, Alderman R. T. Williams contended, was "passing the buck."

PROPOSES PLEBISCITE

Alderman P. R. Brown said he felt there was some merit in the proposal, but could not agree to five.

Last year he had proposed that the membership be six, and he again proposed that a plebiscite be taken to see if the electorate approved of such a scheme. In this he was supported by Alderman Williams.

Alderman Worthington said he did not agree "with this new racket. I think this council has done wonderfully well during the past twelve months. Much has been done by united effort to assist the ratepayers. Why change it?"

Alderman Todd expressed the view that it was too important a question to discuss in the absence of the Mayor and Alderman Alex Peden. He thought some change might be made, but did not think the moment was propitious to advance it.

"ILL-TIMED"

"I think a change is a good thing in many instances, particularly on the City Council," Alderman McGavin declared. "Before elected I was of the same opinion as the ratepayers' association. After serving a year, I found out differently. Ours is a recently put in twenty-five hour week in one week on city business. I figure I was a long way out that week in my own business as a result. I have no doubt you could get six good men to run this council, but they would soon find that they could not carry on their own business, too, at the same time. Their business would go to pot."

"I think this letter should have come before the council months ago. It is ill-timed. It has only been needed to lighten the burdens of those who through no fault of their own, have been crushed by the force of economic conditions."

"I have no hesitation in endorsing the campaign and trust that it will more than reach its objective," she concluded.

FRED LANDSBERG
Fred Landsberg, who has long been identified with welfare work in this city, issued the following statement:

"As a resident of Victoria for forty-nine years and seven months, and one who has for a good many years taken a keen interest in helping those in need and given up a greater portion of my time to rendering help to those in dire need, I can heartily recommend the work of the Friendly Help Welfare Association and will be doing in the future under the new organization."

"The present management of the Friendly Help Welfare Association has taken over the work of the Friendly Help and the Social Service League and will be asked to look after the cases who have received aid from the Victoria Citizens' Unemployment Relief Fund, which is nearly exhausted."

"The Victoria Citizens' Unemployment Relief Fund has over fifteen hundred cases on its books to whom it renders assistance to supplement the unemployed relief which is insufficient to maintain it."

"This work cannot be done without the financial assistance of our citizens, and I sincerely hope that everybody will make the biggest sacrifice possible to assist the welfare associations."

SERVICE IS HELD BY ELKS LODGE
Departed Members of Victoria Lodge, No. 2, Honored in Impressive Ritual

A large attendance of members, their families and friends paid their respects to departed members of Victoria Lodge, No. 2, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, at the twentieth annual memorial ceremony, conducted Sunday evening, in the lodge auditorium.

Following a suitable overture by the orchestra, ritualistic ceremonies were carried out by Exalted Ruler J. W. Lorimer and other officials of the lodge. Invocation followed, and Thomas Keiway, a member, sang a solo. Rev. W. R. Brown gave an inspiring memorial address.

Several vocal solos were rendered by Fred Wright and Mrs. T. R. Bowden, and other selections by the orchestra brought the solemn ceremony to a termination. Mrs. Clifford Warn was accompanist.

Former Resident Has Passed Away
Word was received here yesterday by relatives, that Mrs. Hicks, wife of Rev. William Hicks, of Vancouver, passed away in that city on Sunday, following a long period of invalidism.

Mrs. Hicks had a host of friends in Victoria, she and her husband having lived here for many years following Mr. Hicks' retirement from the ministry. In Cumberland. They came here about 1904, and remained until 1916, during that time being particularly active in the musical life of Centennial Church, of whose choir Mr. Hicks was leader for some years.

Mrs. Hicks was also very interested in this work, and since their removal to Vancouver until her health broke down was associated with her husband in many of his musical undertakings.

NEW WATER RATES BY-LAW IS PASSED
The new water rates by-law was finally passed at last night's meeting of the City Council, and the new scale of charges for meters will go into effect forthwith. This by-law raises the meter charge on connections to industries, and makes a re-adjustment on apartment house service charges.

A lone woman, who has been identified with welfare work in this city, issued the following statement:

"The money supplied will be carefully and intelligently used where it is most needed, to lighten the burdens of those who through no fault of their own, have been crushed by the force of economic conditions."

"I have no hesitation in endorsing the campaign and trust that it will more than reach its objective," she concluded.

Stella Brown Is Called to Rest
Miss Stella Brown, of "Lowestoft," Rowland Avenue, Saanich, aged ten years, passed away, yesterday, at the Royal Jubilee Hospital. She was born in Kensington, Suffolk, England, and had been residing with her parents, in Saanich, for the past two years.

She was a pupil at McKenzie Avenue School. Miss Brown is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William P. Brown, at home, and eleven brothers and sisters.

The remains are resting at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Parlors, where services will be conducted, tomorrow, at 3:30 o'clock. Interment will be made in Royal Oak Burial Park.

GYRO LEADER GREETED HERE
Charles Anstie, International President, Brings Message to Clubmen

Gyro meant friendship, said Charles Anstie, of Vancouver, international president of Gyro Clubs, who addressed the local organization in the Empress Hotel, yesterday.

He pointed out that Gyro was not built upon the idea of gain. On the contrary, it had friendship at its base and this objective must always be kept in mind, and not allowed to become just an empty phrase. Gyros were in existence to afford service in the truest sense.

Mr. Anstie, who formerly was a member of the Victoria Club, was given a hearty reception. His subject had to do with the work of the international body, and in this connection the speaker laid stress upon the excellent work done by E. V. Finland, of the local club, on his visit to the East to the meeting of the board of governors.

TWENTY-FIRST BIRTHDAY
Gyro had on October 14 come of age as an organization. It had stood the stress of the time, he declared, and was represented by seventy-four clubs, with a membership of about 2,800. There were eighteen active prospects which were working under various names, which were likely to come into the list of clubs, and it was almost certain that within twelve months' time at least ten of these would be so received into the organization.

Governor Anstie had been impressed in his visits throughout the club at the way in which the old members were rallying to the support of the organization. It showed that there was something real behind the club. The strength of the Gyro organization lay in its membership. He felt that business men needed the inspiration of Gyro at this time. He admonished them to keep the old members in harness and so keep the spirit of Gyro ever to the front.

NATIVE SON IS MOURNED

Frank Sidney Bone, Aged Fifty-Three, Member of Pioneer Family

Frank Sidney Bone, aged fifty-three years, member of a pioneer family of this city, passed away in the St. Joseph's Hospital, yesterday morning, after a prolonged illness.

A native son of Victoria, Mr. Bone was educated at the North Ward School and at the high school, which is now known as the Girls' Central School. At the age of twenty, he entered his father's book and stationery firm, Hibben-Bone & Company, and was with that firm for nearly thirty years.

He was identified with the Maslin Lodge and also was a member of the Pacific Club. He was an enthusiastic golfer up to the time that he was stricken with his illness, and was a member of the Royal Colwood Golf and Country Club.

Surviving him are his father, W. H. Bone, who has long been a resident of this city; his widow, who resides at 349 Vancouver Street; one daughter, Katharine; one son, Douglas; two sisters, Mrs. A. E. McKinnon, Victoria, and Mrs. Gard, of Seattle.

The funeral service will be held at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel on Wednesday at 2 p.m. Interment will be made in the family plot at Ross F. Cemetery.

VERBAL BATTLE ENDS IN DRAW
Obstructionist Tactics Denied—Rebate Arranged for Water User

Alderman McGavin and several of his fellow-aldermen held a verbal battle at last night's meeting of the City Council, in which no victor was declared.

Alderman McGavin claimed, in connection with the water rates by-law, that obstructionist tactics had been used. His voice rose in protest to an almost deafening denunciation of obstructionist tactics.

This charge was stoutly denied by Alderman P. R. Brown, James Adam, J. D. Hunter and Walter Lunney, who all declared that water rates could not be changed overnight.

Alderman McGavin said he had put his motion forward for a change six months ago, and there should not have been such delay.

The dispute arose when Alderman McGavin wanted to know if any adjustment had been made for a user who had been paying 18 cents per 1,000 gallons of water as against 4 cents by other nurserymen.

G. M. Irwin, acting water commissioner, stepped into the breach and explained that an adjustment already had been arranged, and that it could not finally be made until the new water by-law was passed. A rebate of $147 had been arranged, he declared.

[The Well Dressed Man in Bed]

Self-respect demands that at all times and in all places a man should be fittingly attired. Wearing Tooke "Restwel" pyjamas, one is conscious that he is right, when the evening shades appear.

Speaking of shades, there are dark and light blues, greens and browns, both in solid colours, and fancy trims and patterns, while the lapels and trimmings in darker tints lend an air of elegance.

Flexo band ensures snug fit at waist, with back strap adjustment. Thus a man is as smartly and fittingly dressed when in bed as when he is up and about town. A man dressed by Tooke is correctly attired for every one of the 24 hours.

These "Restwel" pyjamas, as well as fancy shirts and neckwear, packed in holiday boxes, make acceptable Christmas gifts.

URGES SOCIETY TO CHANGE WAY

Victoria West United Church Marks Twenty-First Anniversary With Dinner

"If a new and redeemed society, in which greed, cruelty and selfishness are removed, and eternal love enter our hearts and our home life, is not forthcoming, then there is no hope for the world," declared Rev. C. G. Mackenzie, pastor of Centennial United Church, in giving the principal address as Victoria West United Church observed its twenty-first anniversary with a dinner last night, in the church social hall.

"However, with courage, this church and other churches will not be behind, but in the van of a new era which is inevitable," he declared. He declared it was criminal to "sheep-steal" from other churches, and such a policy was not to be condoned.

"If we are to make society Christian, we must start within ourselves," Mr. Mackenzie maintained. He conveyed the congratulations of the Victoria Presbytery to the church on attaining its majority.

URGES CO-OPERATION

Rev. W. R. Brown, pastor of the church, also spoke briefly, charging his congregation to co-operate with him in making the work of the church felt "more than ever in the community." He pointed out that less than 2 per cent of the Victoria West residents were members of his church, and he was now in the midst of a drive to get all residents to attend church.

Mr. Brown stated he would not take another church's following from it, but any persons who were not affiliated with any institution he would attempt to bring under the wing of Victoria West United Church.

CONGRATULATIONS GIVEN

Rev. H. J. Armistead, former pastor, also offered his congratulations. William Caley, long-standing member of the church, and Rev. John Robson offered their congratulations. Reminiscences of early Victoria West United days were given in brief talks by Captain J. W. Gidley, A. J. Daniels and J. E. Shanks. A varied programme was offered by Miss Irma Falk, Mrs. K. Stoker, Bert Zia and Harry Holder. For their splendid work in keeping the church together in times of stress, and their earnest co-operation at all times, George Guy and A. Wright were presented with a silver electric percolator and a silver serving tray, respectively. Mr. Brown made the presentation.

Social Is Held by Fine Arts School

Members of the Victoria School of Fine Arts spent an enjoyable social evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Porter, 2896 Foul Bay Road, last Saturday. A presentation was made to their leader, Mr. Arthur Cheekley, who has conducted this class for the past five years. Mr. Cheekley is one of the outstanding landscape painters on the Pacific Coast, and under his skillful guidance this group is making considerable progress.

This class is held under the auspices of the Victoria School Board, and in the winter months holds its sessions twice weekly in the school trustees' room at the City Hall, while in the summer months its meetings are held in the open air, sketching directly from nature the many beautiful scenes in the vicinity of Victoria.

An exhibition of their work is held at the end of each winter session, along with the other night classes, in the Victoria High School, when the public are cordially invited, and can judge for themselves what is being accomplished at these evening classes.

St. John Ambulance Host To Distinguished Guests

Provincial Council Entertains Sir John Hewett, Bailiff of Egle, and Mrs. L. E. A. Atkinson, Also of St. John's Gate, London

In honor of two distinguished visiting British members of the Ancient Order of St. John of Jerusalem, Sir John Hewett, Bailiff of Egle, and his daughter, Mrs. L. E. A. Atkinson, Dame of Justice, the provincial branch executive entertained at a charmingly appointed dinner held at the Union Club last evening.

Covers were laid for twenty-four, at a table most attractively decorated with Empire-period baskets of grapes and single pink chrysanthemums alternating with branching silver candelabra, holding pink, jade, and black candles, the place cards held in Dresden and French enamel holders. As president of the British Columbia Council, Mr. Charles G. Pennock, Commander of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, presided, also acting as host and toastmaster. The toasts included "The King," and "The Delegation from St. John's Gate," the latter addressed by Sir John Hewett in a short, apt speech.

Immediately following dinner, Mrs. Atkinson entertained the company with a fascinating illustrated address on the history of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, the oldest order of chivalry in the world, whose foundation dates back to 1099. From then, down to the present time, it has operated almost continuously.

The lantern slides which were used to illustrate the story included several showing ruins of the ancient hospitals, one of the most interesting being a picture of what were supposed to be the ruins of the original foundation of Jerusalem, erected for the protection from the infidels of the pilgrims who journeyed to the Holy City in the eleventh and twelfth centuries. Other pictures were of hospitals in Cyprus and Malta and Egle, the last having been used during the late war.

Other photographic slides showed Knights in their regalia and armor.

THE GUESTS
Present at the dinner were Sir John Hewett, G.C.S.L., K.B.E., C.I.E., Bailiff of Egle; Mrs. L. E. A. Atkinson, Dame of Justice; Mr. J. W. Fordham Johnson, Colonel J. T. Clarke, C.B.E., director-general of the St. John Ambulance Association in Canada; Mr. C. G. Pennock, Commander, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Stevens, Colonel and Mrs. A. McPhee Warner, Major and Mrs. Lavell H. Leonard, and Dr. W. D. Brydone Jack (Knight of Grace), all of Vancouver; Mrs. Charles E. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Edmondson, Dr. and Mrs. T. W. Walker, Mr. A. M. D. Fairbairn, Dr. and Mrs. C. Denton Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Dallain, Mrs. W. Peden, and Colonel C. W. Villiers (Cumberland).

Sir John Hewett and Mrs. Atkinson, who have been guests of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. J. W. Fordham Johnson, at Government House, during their stay in the city, are leaving today for Vancouver, where they are to be entertained on Thursday evening at a dinner, investiture and reception at the Hotel Vancouver.

THE INVESTITURE
The investiture will be the first ever held by the order in British Columbia. Sir John Hewett, who will officiate, will wear full regalia.

Nanaimo Wants Education Out of Civic Financing

NANAIMO, Dec. 4.—Nanaimo City Council tonight passed a resolution which will be forwarded to the convention of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities, to be held in Victoria, January 29, asking its endorsement. The resolution, in effect, will ask that the Provincial Government be requested to remove the education system from the sphere of civic budgets and assume it as a direct moral and monetary obligation.

First Public Meeting Of Evangelical Body Will Be Held Tonight

Tonight at 8 o'clock the first public meeting of the Victoria Evangelical Association will be held in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium. Rev. G. F. Cox will occupy the chair, and timely messages will be brought by Dr. W. M. Robertson and Dr. A. S. Imrie. In the Metropolitan Tabernacle, Vancouver, the former is exercising a great and effective ministry. Dr. Imrie, lately of Toronto and Calgary, is pastor of the Emmanuel Baptist Church of this city.

Under the leadership of Peter Smart, mixed voices will render Isaac Watts' famous hymn, "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross." At this meeting the objects of the association will be set forth, and those desirous of membership will be given an opportunity of enrolment. A hearty invitation is extended to the Christian public.

BLINDCRAFT WORK TO BE SOLD HERE

Exhibits Will Be on View on Main Floor of Hudson's Bay Company Store

Commencing on Thursday, December 7, and continuing for the remainder of the week, an exhibit and sale of Victoria-made blindcraft articles will be held on the main floor of the Hudson's Bay Company's store.

This exhibit and sale is sponsored by the Robert Burns McKicking Chapter, I.O.E., who cordially invite the public of Victoria to inspect the work of blind people in Victoria, whose deft fingers have been taught through the home teaching facilities of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

The generosity of the Hudson's Bay Company in making this space available is very much appreciated.

The Common Cold A Serious Matter

If you do not get rid of the common cold the result may be congestion, inflammation, and irritation of the head, throat and bronchial tubes, followed by bronchitis or some other air passage troubles.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is a remedy for the different ailments of the bronchial tubes. It acts promptly, going straight to the foundation of the trouble, soothes the air passages, loosens the phlegm, strengthens the breathing organs, and, perhaps, preventing some serious bronchial diseases.

HOW TO RETIRE WITH A GUARANTEED INCOME

Here is something for the BUSINESS WOMAN to think about

FIFTY, twenty, twenty-five years hence what will be your outlook on life?

Either

You will have a guaranteed income of your own. You will be able to retire if you desire to do so—to travel—to own a little home with a garden. You will be care-free, able to enjoy life to the full.

Or

You will begin to feel the years hang heavy over you. You will start to worry about your position. You will look forward to the future with apprehension. You will wonder how you are going to support yourself in your later years.

The first alternative is open to you through a GREAT-WEST LIFE Retirement Annuity. The second must inevitably be your lot if you fail to make provision for the future.

A GREAT-WEST LIFE Retirement Annuity guarantees you more income for less money than any other plan of saving. Income cheques will be mailed to you each month, beginning at $5, 60 or 65, and will continue to be paid as long as you live. You will have no investment worries.

It will pay you to study the complete particulars of this plan now. To learn how to save scientifically. To end money worries in your later years. No obligation.

EDMONTON IN ICE VICTORY

Eskimos Score First Win of Season by Defeating Van- couver Lions, 3-1

VANCOUVER, Dec. 4 (CP).—Gordon "Duke" Keats' Edmonton Eskimos finally broke into the win column in the Northwestern Professional Hockey League when they defeated Vancouver Lions, 3-1, here tonight.

It was the Eskimos' first victory in five starts and put them in a tie with Lions for last place in the league standings.

Two minutes from the end of the first period Art Gagne, speedy Eskimo winger, scored through the Vancouver defence and drove a hard low shot that slipped past Hardaker for the opening goal.

TIES SCORE

Lions tied the count near the half-way mark in the middle stanza when Mason took McAdams' pass in the goalmouth and banged the puck into the Edmonton net. Four minutes later Duke Keats put his team into the lead on a pass from Kenny. Keats caught the Lions' defence flatfooted and easily tricked Hardaker for the score.

In a last-period onslaught in an effort to tie the score, Guy Patrick pulled Creasey off the defence and sent five forwards on the ice, but Eskimos, protecting their lead, fought off Lions' attacks. Holmes scored Edmonton's third goal near the half-way mark in the final period when he eased up to the defence and let fly with a low drive that beat Hardaker.

Sea Pigeon Is Competitor With Grilse for Hook

Fred Pollard, of Gillespie Place, who has experienced the unusual, to him has happened a "believe it or not" incident.

While fishing for grilse with Bob Stacey aboard the launch Cardinalis, in Brentwood Bay, yesterday afternoon, Pollard was surprised to land on one occasion, not a grilse, but a sea pigeon. Not until he had pulled in the 150 feet of line did he know he had something quite different from a grilse.

How he hooked the fowl through the beak, Pollard does not know, but in some way it was done under water. At no time did the bird rise to the surface in its struggle, until hauled into the launch. Freed from the hook, the bird was liberated and allowed to skim away over the water, little hurt by its experience, but a wiser bird.

COLUMBIA GIVEN ROSE BOWL GAME

Will Meet Stanford for Mythical United States Football Crown on New Year's Day

PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 4 (AP).—Columbia University is to meet Stanford in the annual football game at the Rose Bowl here, New Year's Day, for the mythical United States championship.

Acceptance by the New York school of an invitation to represent the East was announced today by Al Masters, graduate manager of Stanford. The decision came after weeks of speculation which, in its late phases, embraced Army, Princeton, Nebraska, Michigan and Duke teams.

"Football critics have informed us that, despite an early season defeat by Princeton, Columbia has really a great team," Masters said. "We are impressed by its great finish."

APPLICATION TO BE INVESTIGATED

Aid. P. R. Brown Committed for Securing Delay in Children's Aid Society Case

The application of the Children's Aid Society to the court for a change in the rate of allowance per week for children was referred to the relief officer and health committee for investigation by the City Council last night.

Alderman P. R. Brown explained that H. S. Pringle, city solicitor, himself had appeared in court and asked Magistrate George Jay for a delay in the case until such time as the city could investigate the application.

At present, Alderman Brown said, the city pays allowances ranging from $2.80 to $3.50 a week for city children under the guardianship of the Children's Aid Society. While it was true that the city might be given a reduction in costs at the present time, inasmuch as its annual grant more than covered the amount paid to the city, he said, he was not prepared to agree to a reduction of $4 a week which would be found quite expensive for the city.

Alderman Brown was commended for his action by Alderman James Adam, acting chairman, who said that by the delay a substantial saving for the city in future might be effected.

IN DANGER OF LAVA OUTBURST

Director of Kilauwea Observatory
Predicts Flow From Mountain side Towards the Sea

HILO, Hawaii, Dec. 4 (AP).—Volcanic activity which might endanger the little Hawaiian fishing village of Hokena, on the "Kona" or west coast of this island, was predicted, today, by Dr. Thomas A. Jaggar, Jr., as lava eruptions in Mokuawewe crater diminished.

Dr. Jaggar, director of the Kilauwea Volcano Observatory, and internationally recognized authority, said that, although only five lava flows were playing inside the first pit atop Mauna Loa (13,676 feet) harmonic tremors recorded at the Kilauwea seismograph continued as strong as ever, indicating there had been no cessation in the subterranean pressure, and that the lava might burst out along the mountain side and flow toward the sea.

LOVE'S LOTTERY

By Katharine Haviland-Taylor

CHAPTER XIV

The Autumn came and Miss Ella made a timid suggestion about Italy. Hilda Blake had a villa near Florence, and Hilda Blake played "excellent bridge." "Dear, dear Florence!" murmured Miss Ella. "I think it would be pleasant. Cicely agreed and in the manner that Miss Ella found to be "deeply troubling," a van, uncaring way—a close to dead way.

"Then dear, dear Florence!" said Miss Ella, "with the Arno, threading as a silver ribbon between the hills and the dark old Duomo, although it is not the fashionable church, and I can't for the life of me remember the name of the one that is fashionable, but no matter, and Hilda always had a group of amusing friends near, and I can just close my eyes to see the dead black of the cypress against the golden sky, beside the opera, which is always entertaining, but one should never forget to take cushions, and Don't—those dear little fates! Ah—Florence!"

"Yes, dear," murmured Cicely patiently, as Miss Ella paused to gasp. "The Baglioni, I presume." Miss Ella went on, "and we'll try to get two little sitting rooms with our suite; ah, the street songs! And do you remember the green macaroni? How those arias haunt one! Or Hilda may put us up—" As Miss Ella opened her mouth to gasp in the air necessary to climbing the next conversational peak, Cicely broke in. "Sometimes she had to do this; she grew oddly tired. 'I'm so sorry, but Aunt Ella, I don't want to visit anyone,' she put in definitely.

"It doesn't matter to me, darling! It shall be quite as you say. Ah, that is a nice trick. Turn around, dear!"

Wearily, Cicely turned.

Hilda Blake had rented for the season a villa perched upon the hill that rises from Florence to Fiesole, the latter that small aristocrat of hill towns which for hundreds upon hundreds of long years, has looked down upon grim Florence.

Hilda was the stereotyped woman of many lands, who travels—for cures, to meet "amusing people," for bridge against a new back drop, to escape that disconcerting moment when, with nothing "to do," she might have to think.

Hilda had known Miss Ella and Cicely in the States during a short interval when she "did" the Yellowstone, a dude ranch; Los Angeles, Washington, Philadelphia, New York and Chicago and every in-between. Hilda was alarmed by the change in Cicely.

She sat, the day after Miss Ella and Cicely's arrival, with Miss Ella upon a terrace that overlooked the muted green of olive trees growing from steps which had been arduously cut by patient laborers from the steep hillside. Beyond this gentle green and in a cup, lay Florence; an expanse of roofs, the color of the inside of an oyster, which were picked by tall chimneys and clumps of lower green. And in the cup was, too, a twisting line of mercury, shimmering and twinkling in the sun, the Arno, and side which Beatrice once walked as Dante watched her walking.

Miss Ella, close to Hilda Blake and in a basket chair, echoed her friend's last word. "Distressing!" she questioned. "My dear Hilda, it is starkly tragic. I have done everything. We stopped a fete in Paris. I bought her the most amusing things. She thanked me as if I had presented her with a turnip. . . . And by the by, the French raise anything else? We motored, as you saw. . . . But as I was saying, 'What to do?' Several young men and very attractive young men were so ready to divert her, but she would have none of them! But that a stunning car coming up the hill! She paused to peer through her lorgnette at the lane which threaded upward and toward them and as she studied the long, gleaming car, "Poison for poison, Ella," Hilda said, in her blunt, short way, "has always been the dose with me. Some man must divert her."

"Easy to say, Hilda; that is a stunning car. But where is the man? We met the Earl of Powys-thorpe, a man who would, you know, at least in my day, have interested any young woman."

A great estate, and plenty of money is not so universal nowadays for the English; brave, fine people, but how weary one grows of cabbage! Yet she would have none of him. Each time he joined her she walked away. And that, my dear Hilda, does not encourage a man. He felt it. He said to me, after she had done this perhaps thirty-five or fifty times, 'I don't think your niece finds me so

Board Approves Added Authority For Customs Men

The board of directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, at luncheon yesterday, endorsed a request from the Importers' Association of British Columbia for the granting of authority to customs and national revenue officials in British Columbia to deal with contentious questions without reference to the deputy commissioner of Customs at Ottawa.

The board endorsed, in principle, the resolution from the Vancouver association, but did not go as far as to recommend the appointment of an additional official with the powers of a deputy commissioner, and the members considered it was sufficient if those already in the department were given necessary powers.

Madame Sanderson-Mongin Lectures Before Large Gathering at Victoria College

The lecture room at Victoria College was well filled with students of French and members of the Alliance Francaise, last night, to hear Madame E. Sanderson-Mongin, professor of French at Victoria College, in another one of her popular lectures.

The lecture was entitled "Romance in the History of France," and was accompanied by lantern slides which depicted many of the historic places of France, and also numerous incidents in French history so well described by the early French historians and artists.

Mlle. Margot Roy Married to Baron

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Dec. 4 (CP).—Mademoiselle Margot Roy, daughter of Hon. Philippe Roy, Canadian Minister to France, and Baron Carl Frederik Falkenberg, of Quebec, were married in St. Paul's Church here, on Sunday.

Accompanied by her mother, the bride arrived here shortly before noon on the liner Duchess of Atholl. Baron Falkenberg, son of Baroness and the late Baron Falkenberg, of Quebec, came to Saint John on Friday to await the arrival of the steamer.

In the absence of her father, Mademoiselle Roy was given in marriage by Hon. Hugh H. McLean, Lieutenant-Governor of New Brunswick. Norman Brown, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was groomsmen. Rev. W. H. Moorhead, rector of St. Paul's, officiated. Others present were Baroness Falkenberg.

The Misses Dagmar Falkenberg and Hedda Falkenberg, sisters of the groom; Mrs. Norman Brown, also a sister; Premier and Mrs. L. F. D. Tilley and Miss Margaret Tilley. After the ceremony, the wedding party motored to their hotel and later were dinner guests of the Lieutenant-Governor at Government House in Rothesay. The bride and groom will leave tomorrow to spend their honeymoon at Portland, Maine, subsequently making their home in Quebec.

The Chinese Ministry of Education, according to The Chinese Recorder, has changed its policy regarding religion in the schools. For some years religion has been barred but under a statement issued November 28, 1932, a radically different policy toward religion is necessary so that religion may not only not obstruct the national revival, but be actual assistance to it. The new regulations have not come to hand, but Nanking's conversion will certainly be welcomed by Christian churches in China.

ARSENAL SCORES VICTORY OVER AUSTRIANS, 4-2

English Champions Win Exciting Game At Highbury Field

30,000 Watch Exhibition Football Match in Cold Weather—English Team Leads, 2-0, at the Interval—Bastin, Hulme and Jack Account for Winners' Goals—Visitors Play Hard

LONDON, Dec. 4 (CP).—Before a crowd of 30,000, at Highbury, this afternoon, the Arsenal, champions of the English Football League, defeated the Austrian International eleven by a score of 4 to 2. Played in an icy wind, the match was fast and exciting throughout, and the Arsenal side was well extended by the visitors. The Austrian team showed only three changes from that which held Scotland to a 2-2 draw at Glasgow, last week. They were behind at the start, but thereafter kept the English very busy.

The Austrians almost scored from the kick-off, driving down the field, when Zischek missed the net. The Arsenal came back, and Coleman missed scoring twice within a few minutes. The Gunners' speed and tackling had the Austrians disconcerted for a time, but they got away, and Bican gave a high pass to Schall. The latter headed over the crossbar. The Austrians began to find themselves, and their short, low passes had the Arsenal defence tangled up for a while. Swarming around the Arsenal net, Vieri had Moss beaten when he hit the upright. Then Zischek passed when he could have scored.

Arsenal broke away, but Jack twice missed fine opportunities to score. He sent one shot wildly wide, and then headed Bastin's centre over the bar.

SCORE ON PENALTY
The visitors put on the pressure again, and had the Arsenal defence fully extended. Bican graded the crossbar and for some time only Moss' steadiness in the nets prevented a score.

Bastin was fouled, but he took the penalty kick himself, and scored with a fine ground shot. Two minutes later, Hulme got a pass from Coleman and scored from fifteen yards out. The score was still 2-0 at half-time.

Shortly afterwards Sindelar drove a hard shot which Siede detected into the Arsenal net. Encouraged by the score, the Austrians played cleverly. Both Schall and Bican missed scoring by the narrowest margin, Bican's having been almost a certain counter. Then the Arsenal got away, and on a perfect centre from Hulme, Jack headed in a clever goal.

Austria rallied and got in on the Gunners' nets, Schall scoring after tricking Moss out of goal, to make it 3-2.

Arsenal, however, added another through Bastin before the final whistle.

The teams lined up as follows:
Arsenal: Moss; Male and Hapgood; Jones, Sidney and John; Hulme, Jack, Coleman, James and Bastin.

Austria: Platzer; Cisar and Sessok; Bman, Mock and Nausch; Zischek, Bican, Sindelar, Schall and Vieri.

Security Prices Little Changed At Wall Street

NEW YORK, Dec. 4 (AP).—Speculative markets watched foreign exchange movements with indifference today, making scanty changes in listless dealings. Bonds, on the other hand, improved sufficiently to lift the averages a trifle, though United States Government securities turned slightly easy toward the close.

With the Treasury's gold price holding at $34.01 for the third successive day, foreign exchanges declined sharply, later their losses were substantially reduced, but the dollar's strength was an interesting feature of the financial day.

Wheat and corn finished virtually even with Saturday's final quotations. The average net change for stocks was a minor fractional decline in a turnover of 670,384 shares. While stocks backed and filled with little attempt to go anywhere in particular, Wall Street conjectured on the forthcoming Government financing and other matters which will influence the course of markets over the near term.

Prime investment corporation bonds firmed as the United States dollar rallied on foreign exchange markets, but pervertedly, United States Government securities turned irregularly lower.

Rails were the best of the corporation groups. The rails advanced 1 to 2 around 2 points. Utility and industrial gained fractions to 3 points.

Foreign obligations were irregular. Bonds of France, Dutch East Indies, Switzerland and the United Kingdom declined 1 to more than 3 points.

ANSWER TO SUNDAY'S PUZZLE

HOW IT STARTED

By Jean Johnston

"TO CROW OVER"

"He was so pleased he just crowed over that." Our reader quotes this use of the phrase "to crow over" in requesting the origin of the phrase. The words were used originally to express exultation in victory over someone, the allusion being to the crowing of a cock after victory in a fight. Its form was originally "overcrow." It is the sanction of usage by which the phrase is sometimes used today to express exultant pleasure or satisfaction in anything.

The visiting director of education was complaining that the school was not properly cleaned. Rubbing his finger on a big globe, representing the world, he said: "Look at this. It's covered with dust." "But, after all, said the school janitor, "that part you've touched is the Sahara Desert."

Music Is Portrayed as Language of Moods And Human Emotions

Ira Dilworth Addresses Well-Attended Meeting of Women's Canadian Club—Charming Musical Numbers Illustrate Lecture Material

ILLUSTRATED by a wealth of literary allusions as well as by very beautiful musical numbers, Ira Dilworth's talk yesterday afternoon at the Empress Hotel, on "Music, the Language of Human Moods and Emotions," was one of the most popular and charming of the year, and attracted a big audience.

Adhering very closely to the intention of the subject, the speaker, while admitting that music was very much more than merely a language of emotions, confined himself rather to the aspect of music as "a helpmate, guiding one to see beauty and harmony at the heart of the universe, and beauty and harmony in the soul of man," rather than attempting to portray its intellectual functions.

"UNIVERSAL LANGUAGE"
"Music," he said, "is a universal language, a language which overlaps all national boundaries." The idiom of music in different countries might vary, and consequently the music of another nation might seem alien when heard for the first time. But when it was so expressive of the emotions, national forms made little difference, as everyone realized on hearing, side by side, Schubert's "Am Meer," and a Japanese composer's song expressive of a somewhat similar sentiment—the lover waiting on the sea shore for some message from the loved one. In the same way a child's crying, a child's laughter, had a universal quality, understood by people of all lands.

The song and dance of primitive peoples had some common quality of rhythmic expression of simple emotions and moods. Labor songs, unconsciously evolved to give rhythmic movement in work; cradle songs, weaving, reaping, threshing, and milking songs all had some common quality. In the deeper emotions, also, there was some poignant note expressive in music; the exuberance of youth, the cry of courage, the hymn of patriotism, the paeon of thanksgiving for victory, the sense of awe and reverence felt "when man comes into the presence of his God."

POETS QUOTED

Over and over again the poets were quoted to show how, down the ages, music was conceded to be the language best fitted to express emotion, particularly the romantic emotions. Walter de la Mare's poem, "When Music Sounds"; Shakespeare, repeatedly, in romantic scenes such as between Lorenzo and Jessica in the garden at Belmont, in innumerable scenes in "Romeo and Juliet," in "As You Like It," and many other places. Even Cleopatra, "that old serpent of the Nile," was not indifferent to music, in the Shakespearean interpretation, expressing a romantic mood in the lines beginning: "Give Me Some Music!" Shelley, Wordsworth, and other poets were quoted.

MUSICAL EXAMPLES

The musical illustrations of the address were most happily chosen. Dr. T. H. Johns opened the musical part of the programme with two exuberant songs: "Billie Boy," humorous, homely, domestic sentiment, and the southern "Shenandoah," both delightfully sung. Mrs. W. H. Wilson followed with two Scottish folk songs, the Hebridean "Milkmaid's Lullaby," and "Callie Herin," the former with a well-sustained lilt, and the latter with a fine note of pathos in its closing lines; Mrs. T. H. Johns, in two tenderly sung lullabies, Brahms' "Cradle Song" (in German), and Cyril Scott's "Lullaby"; two songs to illustrate the sentiment of love as expressed in music: "My Love's an Arbutus," sung by Mrs. W. H. Wilson, and "Now Sleeps the Crimson Petal" (Roger Quilter), sung by Miss Nora Jones, both very much enjoyed.

A magnificent trio of oratorio music came at the end of the programme: "It Is Enough" (from "Elijah"), sung by Dr. Johns with a finely devotional spirit; "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth," most reverently interpreted by Mrs. Johns, who used a very fine legato tone throughout; and "He Shall Feed His Flock" ("Messiah"), by Miss Nora Jones, who gave a typically sympathetic and thoughtful character to the lines. Miss Maquinn Daniels played the accompaniments with much taste.

VOTE OF THANKS

The speaker and artists were very cordially thanked on behalf of the club, by Mrs. Harold Campbell. Mrs. Alfred Carmichael presided, and announced that the next meeting of the club would be on Tuesday, December 12, when the speaker will be W. E. Smith, of Winnipeg, author and lecturer. Members were also reminded of the tea to be given this afternoon at the Empress Hotel, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Spofford, who are celebrating their golden wedding. The Women's Canadian Club, the Local Council of Women, the W.C.T.U. Home, and the First Baptist Church are uniting in commemorating the event. Anyone interested is cordially invited to attend.

Mr. Carmichael was introduced, and in appealing for subscriptions for the Friendly Help Welfare Association, and bespeaking a cordial reception for canvassers in the projected campaign, cited the case of a family of four in Saanich that received only $28 a month for rent, light, fuel, food and clothing. Even this sum would not be available were it not for such organizations as the Friendly Help Welfare Association and the Saanich Friendly Help.

MEETING POSTPONED

The regular monthly meeting of the Saanich Welfare Association will be postponed until Wednesday, December 13, at 2 p.m., in the S.P.C.A. room in the Campbell Building.

MUSICAL COMEDY NOW AT DOMINION

"Footlight Parade" Said to Be Greater Than "42nd Street" and "Gold Diggers"

Two teams of ace song writers supplied the musical score for "Footlight Parade." The Warner Bros. latest screen contribution to their success of superb musical pictures, which is now at the Dominion Theatre.

Harry Warren and Al Dubin, who did the musical numbers for both "42nd Street," and "Gold Diggers of 1933," wrote two songs for the new picture. These are "Honeymoon Hotel," in which Dick Powell and Ruby Keeler perform as principals, and "Shanghai Lil," in which Miss Keeler shares the spotlight with Jimmy Cagney. In this number, Jimmy, a former stage star, is teamed with ensemble work by two hundred swimming girls.

Another pair of writers, Sammy Fain and Irving Kahal, contributed further songs to "Footlight Parade." One of these, "By a Waterfall," is heard in the greatest spectacle scene ever filmed in which Ruby Keeler and Dick Powell are teamed with ensemble work by two hundred swimming girls.

CAPITOL The most fascinating theatre and thrilling of spy stories is contained in the autobiography of Martin McKenna, the attractive Belgian girl spy. The story is contained in the Gaumont-British production of her book, "I Was a Spy," which is playing at the Capitol Theatre. The film version of this vivid and authentic document is a sensation. Madeleine Carroll is superb in the role of the heroine.

PLAYHOUSE Preston B. Postel, after months of playing criminal characters and arch-villain roles, has his first sympathetic part playing opposite Barbara Stanwyck in "Ladies They Talk About," now showing at the Playhouse Theatre.

COLUMBIA Marlene Dietrich, Brian Aherne and Lionel Atwill, three of the principals in Paramount's "The Song of Songs," produced by Rouben Mamoulian, planned careers other than acting. Miss Dietrich studied to become a concert violinist; Aherne worked as bookkeeper for several years, and Atwill studied architecture. "The Song of Songs," now at the Columbia Theatre, was adapted from Hermann Sudermann's widely-read novel of a young woman who suffers tragedy because of her desire for love.

FRIDAY marks the opening performance of Henry Santrey and his Soldiers of Fortune at the Capitol Theatre. Mr. Santrey and his company of thirty will be the outstanding stage attraction at the Capitol for two days only.

This splendid musical-vaudeville revue has recently earned the plaudits of theatre-goers in Eastern centres, and their appearance in the Canadian West will long be remembered by lovers of the best in stage entertainment.

Mr. Santrey's band presenting several clever arrangements of popular numbers and the specialty artists vying with one another for audience approval, this musical-vaudeville revue provides an hour of the most delectable entertainment that the stage can possibly offer.

RHODES SCHOLAR FOR YEAR CHOSEN

F. D. M. Cowan, of North Vancouver, Selected From Thirteen Goes Up in October

VANCOUVER, Dec. 4 (CP).—Patrick Duncan McTaggart Cowan, twenty-one, son of Mr. and Mrs. McTaggart Cowan, of North Vancouver, was named British Columbia's Rhodes scholar for 1934 by the selection committee, which met on Saturday night.

He was chosen from among thirteen applications and will go into residence at Oxford next October. The scholarship, valued at $400 a year, is available for two years with the possibility that it will be extended for a third.

Cowan graduated from the University of British Columbia this Spring with first class honors in mathematics and physics, and won the Anne Weirlock scholarship for post-graduate work. He has been attending University of British Columbia this year under that award. He plans to write for his B.A. with honors in mathematics at Oxford.

BORN IN EDINBURGH

Born in Edinburgh, the new Rhodes scholar came to British Columbia as a boy and has always taken high standing in his school work. He matriculated from North Vancouver High School, winning one of the provincial scholarships.

and every year at University was among the prize winners.

Young McTaggart Cowan took a keen interest in Boy Scout work on the North Shore in his school days. He is captain of the University of British Columbia badminton club. His father is a well-known bedminton star, having held the Canadian championship on several occasions.

The Empire's wood supply is said to be decreasing. Doubtless our politicians will remedy this state of affairs by putting their heads together.

MAYOR EXPLAINS RELIEF MATTERS

Victoria Ministerial Association Hears System of Allowance Outlined

Matters pertaining to the city relief were explained to the Victoria

Ministerial Association by Mayor David Leeming and E. G. Snowden, city relief officer, at a meeting held in the Y.M.C.A. yesterday morning. The Mayor said that the city was chiefly concerned with the actual amount of food and clothing needed than with the dollars and cents of the situation.

He explained that Victoria gave a larger allowance to those on relief than any other municipality or unorganized district throughout the province. The amount above the Provincial Government scale was borne entirely by the city, he said.

Rev. F. Conley, president of the Victoria Ministerial Association, occupied the chair. Tentative arrangements for the Universal Week of Prayer, to be held from January 7 to 14, were discussed.

Consoling Landlady: "Now, don't you be down 'earted, dearie; you'll get over it. Why, look at me. I was jilted by three fellers, an' 'as two breach cases, but, bless yer, I've lived to bury a couple of 'usbands."
